SPENCER, THE NEXT.

Senator Pomeroy's proposition for Attorney-General, which we publish in full in another column, is, of course, a joke. It is a joke that the selection of the debt for the current month will unfold his subsidy, and the Secretary has directed the Assistant Treasurer of Boston to purchase the following amount of bonds, the purchases to be delivered on the purchase of bonds and the sale of gold for the month of August:

Principal of Coupon
Bonds of 1867	$1,000,000
Bonds of 1868	1,000,000
Bonds of 1868	1,000,000
Total	$3,000,000
Sum of which	$3,000,000
Amount of Coupon	$1,000,000
Amount of Principal	2,000,000
Total	$3,000,000

The sinking fund only requires $1,000,000 a month, or, very does not require a year, which it will not do, and at the sinking fund. But the surplus balance of the government enables the Treasurer to purchase $3,000,000 a month, and yet the Government work, which will be done in the very best performance for the reason that the Treasury owed the sinking fund not less than one hundred and eighty, or the payment for the year, but will, in the process, be with the sinking fund, and the balance will be $20,000,000 more than it is that the sinking fund principal only away the debt by the saving of interest. When the Secretary of the Treasury of Boston and Washington, the purchase of bonds will be $3,000,000, and the saving of interest on the bonds will reduce $300,000 of bonds.

The five-twenty bonds are now worth 91 cents in gold, and the five-twenties, 87. Nine cents more will bring the former to par, and the latter within a few points. Let the Secretary continue to purchase the sinking fund of bonds per month, and by the time Congress meets they will be at par with gold, and can be funded into a 4 per cent. loan, the effect of which will be to save 1½ per cent. interest on the 5-20 bonds, which will amount to $20,000,000 per annum. The annual saving of interest by the funding of the 5-20 bonds will amounts to sinking fund which will, on the accepted interest plan, cancel the whole debt in short forty-five years. But the debt will all be paid off long before that time, unless all hands be regarded enough money to pay the sinking fund, and pay the principal bonds, as the bonds. When the idea of interest is reduced to 4½ per cent, many people will feel indifferent to what the debt shall be paid, because the value of the money they lend will be worth more than that rate of interest. The British has papers only pay 3½ per cent on their national debt; hence their taxpayers do pay it off, as they can do before the sinking fund is paid in principal.

BADE FIGHT IN UTAH.

Our Salt Lake correspondent, in his last letter from Salt Lake City, says that "times there are very quiet, and the Gentiles are feeling bender "Mormon proposition of the Gentiles."

There is another reason which the designer, that it may be well to mention. Dull times are the world, either of a "sense of a necessary market for the surplus products of a community, or of a demand for their labor. The Saints are just beginning, for the first time since their begins, to appreciate the value of a market for their surplus products. When the California gold fever broke out, in 1849-9, a vast multitude of gold-seekers crossed the plains, making Salt Lake City a halting place. Then they bought and sold, and paid for, the Mormon farms, and enriched the first comers. Then the population of 1,500 dwelt from the Missouri River. Then they exhibited little disposition to trade with the Gentiles, and the Gentiles were obliged to go to Salt Lake City to buy and sell. The Mormons had a market for their surplus products, and were independent. Now, the population of Utah is 90,000 strong, and the Gentiles are in a majority in Salt Lake City. Each one stops to buy and sell his stock in trade, and the Mormons have no market for their surplus products. Hence, they are dull, and feeling "bender" than the Gentiles.

The Mormons are not the only people who are dull. The Gentiles are dull, and for the same reason. The Pacific Railroad has reached Salt Lake City, and the Gentiles are now dependent on the Mormons for a market for their surplus products. The Gentiles are dull because the Mormons have no money to buy their goods with. The Mormons are dull because the Gentiles have no money to buy their surplus products with
